SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

Starting the week again with the school assembly. Every week, its just almost repeating the same thing again and again mostly about students discipline in schools the followed by the award giving session.

CLASSES

According to the RPT, this week I will start teaching based on the textbook again. For both classes I started off with introducing them to a new topic which is Unit 8 Good Luck, Bad Luck. This unit mainly focuses on sports and superstitions. I asked the students what they know about luck and I received variety of answers. For the set induction, I asked the students to pair up and list down different kind of sports. The most pair will receive a little reward from me. This activity is to warm up student's knowledge on the kinds of sports we have. Following the textbook, I played an audio related to sports vocabularies and asked students to pronounce each one of them. Then I asked them to copy down the exercise in their notebook and fill in the blanks required for the question given. As for the class activity, I asked them to create a dialogue then they have to act it out. I chose a few pair to come in front and act out their dialogue. As for the class exercise, I handed it out as a homework due to limited time left.

WEEKLY DUTY

My weekly duty for this week is similar like last week where I need to gather non muslims and girls who are on their period at the speech corner so that they won't disturb the boys who are praying zohor at the surau terbuka.

TODAY'S ENGLISH CLUB MEETING

For today's English Club meeting, we had a movie review as our activity. We showed a Shrek movie and asked students to jot down any of the important parts such as the main characters and main plots because at the end of the movie we will ask them few questions about it. We also had a quiz session at the end of the movie and trivia questions for students to participate. The purpose of this movie review is to see whether students are able to capture the moral values shown in the movie shrek.

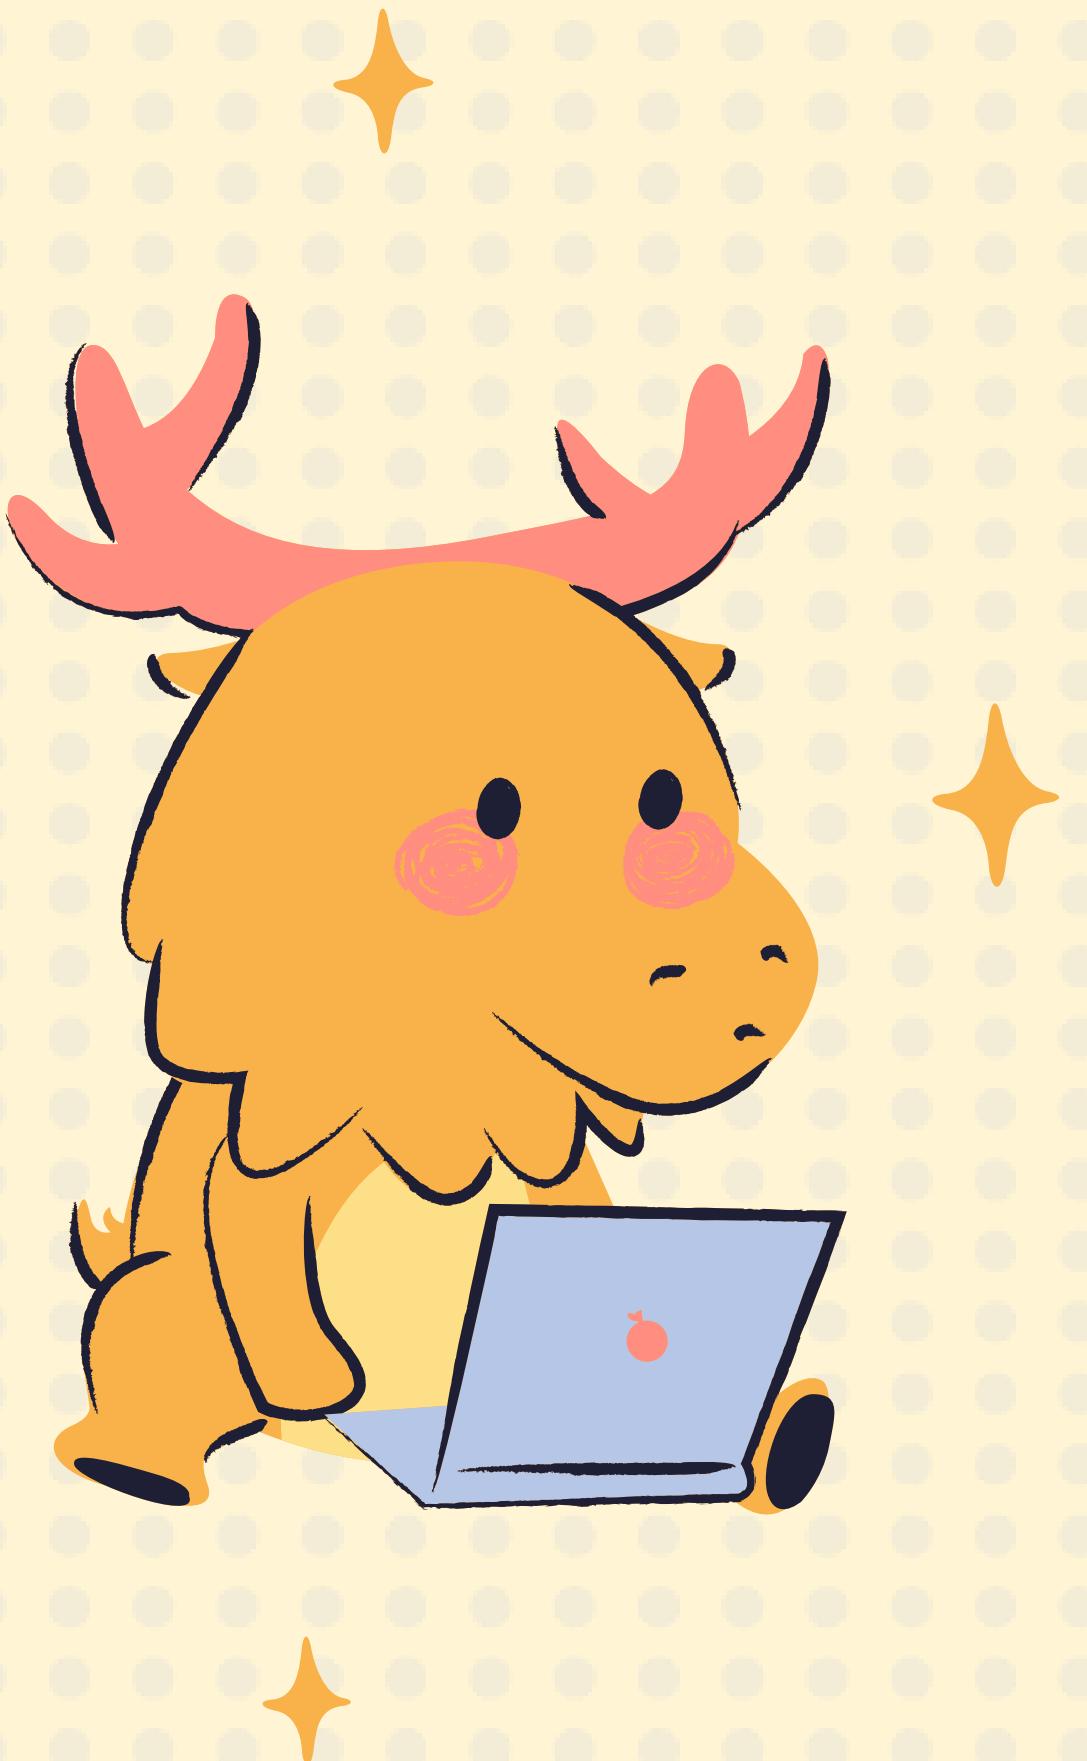

CLASSES

Later in the afternoon, for my classes with 2 AlJazari and 2 AlKindi, I taught them about superstitions in sports. I asked them to read the text on page 85 about few athletes that has a superstition before doing their sport activities. I also asked them to do the comprehension activity on the same page after reading the text. To strengthen their vocabulary on sports, I gave them a wordsearch activity. For their class exercise, I gave them a worksheet where they need to read the passage and answer the questions based on the passage given but with no more than five words or numbers for each questions.

CLASSES

Continuing from yesterday's lesson, I am still teaching students on superstitions in sports. As for the set induction, I asked students to list down name os athletes they know. This is to introduce them to athletes that perform superstitions before a game or a match in sports. During the lesson development, I wrote down few athlete names and the superstition that they believe in. Some of the students find some of the information quite new to them. Since I am teaching about superstitions, I received a lot of questions from students asking it we as a muslim can actually believe in superstitions. Which obviously is not but people back then used to believe in many of the superstitions listed. For the class activity I did a true or false activity where students have to decide true or false for the questions that I have writtenon the whiteboard and as for the class exercise, I asked them to complete a crossword puzzle based on the explainations I have given in class in order to see if they understand my lesson.

RELIEF CLASSES

Today, the people from JPN will come to school. Therefore, all the teachers are required to do an activity for their relief classes. I have 2 relief classes today and for both classes I gave them a wordsearch activity. Many of the teachers also gave them wordsearch puzzle which made the students felt a little bit boring because they mentioned that they have been doing wordsearch for almost every relief classes. Since people from JPN will be coming and the school principal will be checking classes, the teachers informed us to be prepared with answers about the principal just in case they ask us and to memorise the school's mission and vission

ZOO EXPLORACE

i was assigned as the MC for the programme and to be honest, I admit I was shy at first but as time passes by, I slowly adapt to the situation. my mentor helped me a lot with the speech. I consulted my script with my mentor few days before and I also asked one of the main coordinator for the activity, teacher Rosmira to check on my speech via telegram. The purpose of this activity is to help students increase their vocabulary and knowledge on animals in the zoo.

Zoo explorace was one of the activities for academic and independence month. However, it couldn't be conducted during that month because the zoo staff informed that there are no available dates for any of the dates during the academic and independence month.

FOR

WEEK 8 !!

SWOT ANALYSIS

STRENGTHS

- Students participate actively in the lesson activities and the materials were provided for each of the students such as the worksheets that I have printed out for them.

WEAKNESS

- I am still lacking with the time management in class. The class exercise is mostly given as a homework rather than finishing it in class due to time limit.

OPPORTUNITIES

- Students are able to take part in showing their talent in acting out their dialogues.
- Students are able to visit the zoo for education purpose while having fun.

THREATS

- I should have pre-written the class activity on a mahjong paper to save time rather than writing each one on the board which was time consuming and led my marker to run out fast.
